PARK COLLEGE
PARKVILLE · MISSOURI

Foreword

As Narva, the Indian chieftan, gazed across the valley of the winding Missouri, the all-powerful Gitchi-gu-me whispered in his ear the history of a great race that would one day dwell in the broad valley.

A college now proudly overlooks the surrounding country from that eminence where Narva stood. Thousands of children of the white men have worked, played and studied there. The name of this college is Park. Its motto is "Fides et Labor." Its aim is service. The chronicle of events is found between the covers of many volumes named for the old warrior chieftan, Narva.

May all lovers of their Alma Mater find a true portrayal of Park College life between the covers of this, the 1922 Narva.

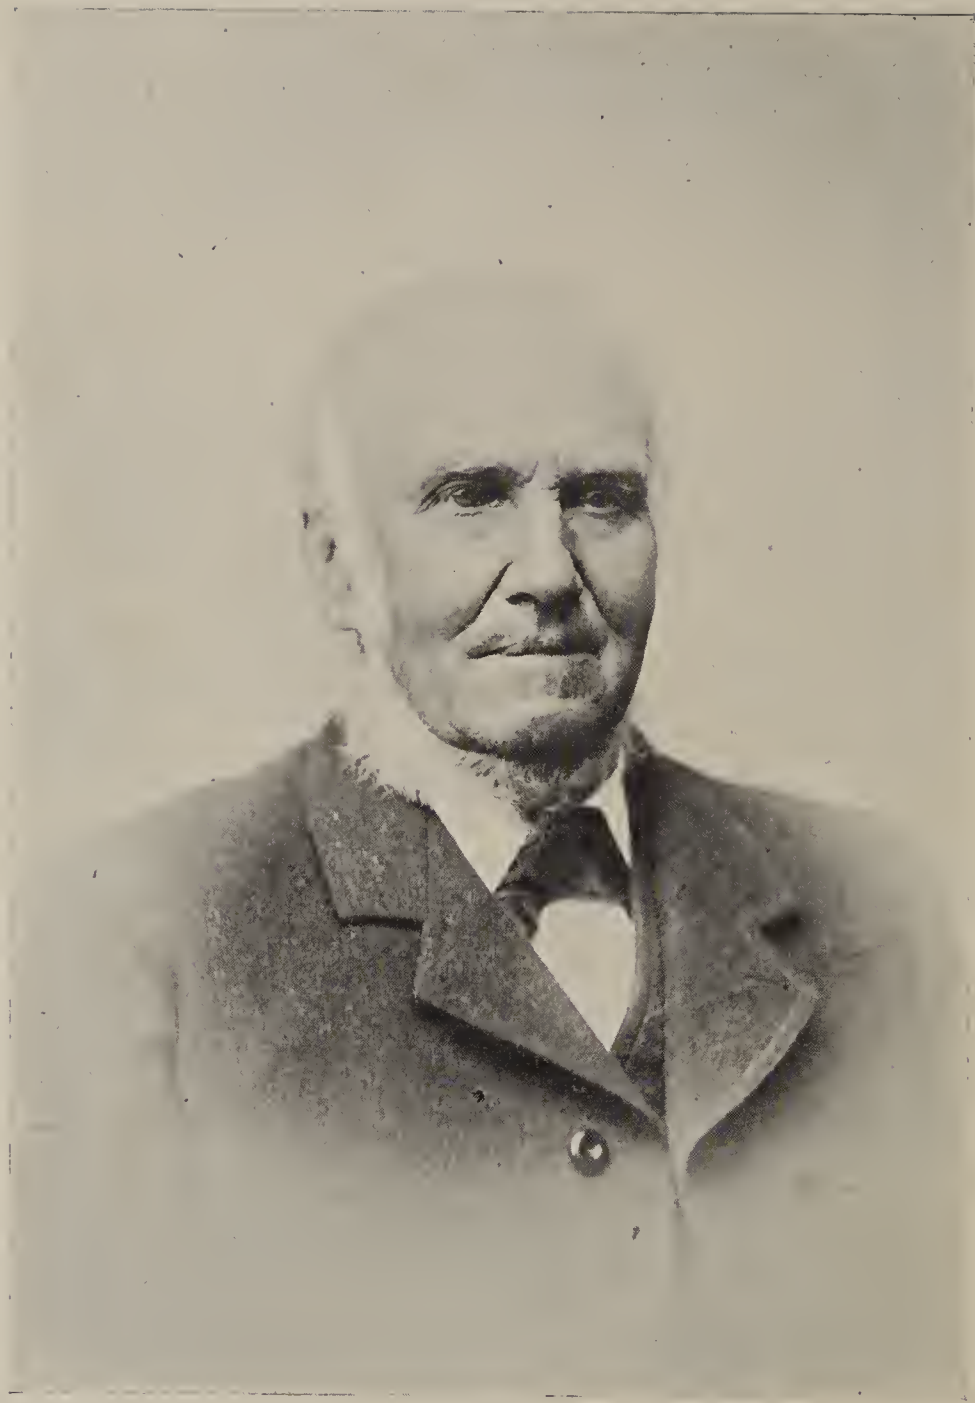

To the memory of

Colonel George S. Park

Christian Business Man, Statesman, Philanthropist, to whom we, as Park students, owe so much,

we dedicate this Volume.

The Prayer

In a quaint old-fashioned book with chipped wooden corners, written in the old Park House so familiar to us all, and on pages that are yellowed with the years, in Colonel Park's handwriting are found these words of his prayer of May 15, 1834: "Great and everlasting God . . . . graciously smile upon our efforts to quicken the intellect."

The Answer

We quote the following from an article written by President John A. McAfee and published in Volume I. of the Park College Record in 1880:

"Now let me repeat: I am not engaged in the erection of any monument to any man, nor am I concerned particularly about building an institution of learning. The Lord has put it into the heart and mind of his servant, the Hon. Geo. S. Park, the giving of houses and grounds for this peculiar service of the Lord. He urged that the institution be called by some other name, and his name has been fastened upon it without his consent. The Lord is in a wonderful manner building Park College."

Appreciation of the Board of Trustees

The following resolution was adopted by the Board of Trustees of Park College at its annual meeting June 11, 1890, the members present being Rev. E. B. Sherwood, President of the Board, President McAfee, Mrs. McAfee, Mrs. Calverence, Messrs. Marsh, Ford, Ayers, Bullard, DeClue, Kahn, Railsback, and Mrs. Wright:

Resolved, That the death of Colonel George S. Park, that occurred on June 6 inst., is regarded by this Board as a deeply impressive and significant event. He was the founder of this college, giving it its first endowment, calling Dr. McAfee to take charge of the school as it was then, before the present institution was chartered.

Dr. McAfee gathered a few teachers around him; and their support was almost entirely due to Colonel Park. Ever mindful of the institution, he has from time to time contributed to its support, and made frequent visits to aid by his advice and counsel. Commencements have ever been to him a source of great gratification. To see young men and women complete their education and prepare for a life of Christian work, was to him a source of great delight. . . . .

In all our intercourse with Colonel Park, we have ever recognized in him the great preponderating desire to do good. Strongly attached to the Presbyterian Church, he by building churches and supporting ministers, has ever planned for its extension.

To the family of Colonel Park we would extend our sympathy, commending them to our Heavenly Father, in whom the deceased so fully trusted.

Jonathan Ford, Secretary

To the Walk Below the Chapel

*You are worn by sun and showers,
By the tramp of many feet,
In a thousand grooves and hollows;
And the grasses, fresh and sweet,
Push in vain between the crooked
Telltale stones of you, all built
In together, without pattern,
Like a giant crazy-quilt.*

*You have carpeted the old foot,
Kissed the little, little shoe,
Loved the step of youth and maiden,
Bounding lightly over you;
Feet from many lands have trod you,
Restless feet, and strange, and slow;
Lovers on you leave their impress—
We can never hope to know
All the stories that are written
On your tablets hewn of stone,
Of the crowds who ran together,
Of the souls who walked alone.*

*Surely you have learned to know them,
Understanding all along,
Feeling heart-throbs thru the foot-throbs
Of the ever passing throng.*

—Edith J. Agnew, '21

Memoir Class of 1921

In the year 1917, out of a heterogenous mass of "go-getter" type freshmen assembled from all the world, the memorable Class of '21 came into being. Four years the Blue and Gold lived and worked 'neath the folds of the Canary and Wine, ever striving to serve her Alma Mater in complete loyalty.

Every phase of campus life was entered with earnestness and vigor, slighting nothing, no—not even family work or social hour. On the forensic platform eight members of the Class of '21 aided in bringing debate victories for Park. Two of the seven were members of the first Park intercollegiate girls' debating teams and two Park orators came from the ranks of '21 and one reached the highest contest that ever a Park orator has entered—the Inter-State contest.

Yet it is not the achievements of the Class of '21 during these four, seemingly brief, years, but rather the benefits we received from our college experience, that loom up large in our memories. During those years of shaping and sharpening of characters and talents we have been better fitted to enter the world of service, of which most of us now have an active part.

One year away from Park has placed the members of the Class of '21 in many new occupations. A remarkable feature is that all but eight members are still in the educational field—either teaching or being taught. Twenty-three, precisely one-half, are teaching, while fifteen, just one-third, are in graduate schools. Even our Honorary Member, Professor Wilson, is in school, the University of Chicago, where he will soon emerge as Doctor Wilson. Mrs. Wilson, to keep up with her husband, is studying for an M.A. degree.

The Holiday Edition of the Park '21 Lettergram proved that the Class of '21, although geographically separated, is still united by the invincible bonds of Park fellowship and is striving fearlessly forward beneath its motto—Honor.

The Alumni Association of Park College was organized in 1879 by the first graduating class. It began with a membership of four and has grown to over eleven hundred living members, who are graduates. In addition to these, those who have received honorary degrees from Park are considered members and a few who have been elected honorary members. The object of the Association as stated in the first constitution is to assist and advance the interest of Park College and to cherish feelings of brotherhood and friendship among its graduates. The business of the Association is largely handled by the executive board. The annual meeting is held the day before commencement of each year and this followed by the banquet furnishes the occasion for the reception of the graduating class, the review of old experiences and the formation of new friendships.

The Alumni Association not only fulfills its original object but has enlarged that aim and reaches out to broader fields of activity and usefulness. It endeavors to keep in touch with every member, serving as an information bureau in the interest of its members, the College and the cause of Christian education in general.

Class Hymn—"He's a Friend of Mine."

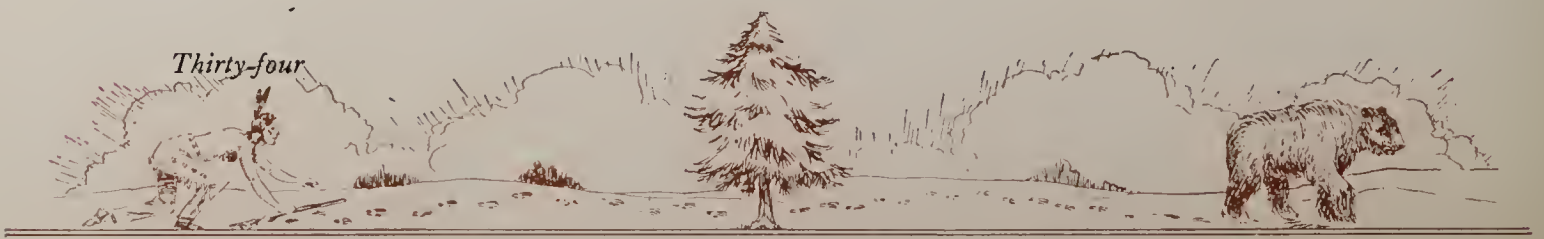

"Why should I charge my soul with care?
The wealth of ev'ry clime
Belongs to Christ, God's Son and Heir,
And He's a Friend of mine.

(Chorus)

"Yes, He's a Friend of Mine,
And He with me doth all things share;
Since all is Christ's, and Christ is mine,
Why should I have a care?
For Jesus is a Friend of mine."

In the fall of 1918 one hundred and ten wearers of the green entered Park College in pursuit of knowledge. During the days of strife that soon followed, they quickly learned by experience to concentrate for action with the result that victory occupied an accustomed seat on the banner of victories. Aside from several disastrous meetings with the class of '21 and the loss of the debate to '23, the spirit of co-operation and friendship has carried the class through many a hard-fought day (and night). Incidentally the green and white represents the last class which fought in the Herculean struggles characteristic of underclassmen days of yore. Two of the triumphs of the class rate special mention, the winning of the Stylus contest for two successive years and the promotion of the best Junior-Senior banquet in a generation. Both the men and women have won fame in inter-collegiate forensics and athletics. The class is proud of its record and of its members.

Colors—Maroon and White.

Motto—"B Square."

Class Hymn—"Steady and True."

Mascot—David Teener.

One hundred and six of us, as young and as green and as tender "as they make 'em," began our college course in the fall of 1919. So green were we that we lost both the tie-up and the barrel rush to the wiser sophomores. Our greenness had so worn off by spring, however, that we won the fresh-soph debate in April and the Verrill Declamatory Contest in May. Class meetings, inter-class basketball games, class prayer meetings and a couple of class feeds were the mediums which brought us to know, to understand and to appreciate each other more fully.

Our sophomore year held two events of outstanding importance for us—the winning of the inter-class basketball championship and the tradition-breaking victory over the freshmen at the debate.

Now that we are enjoying the rights and privileges of upperclassmen our thoughts and efforts have been turned more to intellectual pursuits. Our class holds a prominent place in forensic activities, a fair share of women and men debaters having been chosen from our ranks. Our scholastic standing is high. Not often is a junior on the "P and F" list!

This junior year also makes the entrance of a very important new member to our class—little David Teener—who has been chosen as our official mascot.

We are trying to make our lines conform to our motto "B square." Scholarship, athletics, fellowship and spirituality, each of these four sides of our square holds a place in the interests of every loyal supporter of Maroon and White.

Three years of fellowship and fun,
 Three years of contests, lost or won.
 Three years of purpose and of work,
 Three years, of study—not of shirk!
 Three years with griefs, perhaps some pain;
 Three years with rainbows through the rain.
 Three years 'mid hills and trees so tall,
 Three years with Him about us all.
 Three years of gain for mind and soul,
 Three years gone with us toward our goal.
 Three years!
 As these have been, so may all be
 As kind to us of '23!

The class of 1924 arrived on the Park College Campus in a somewhat dazed condition, September sixth, 1920, and proceeded to eke out an education. Intensive training, however, did not begin until September 10th, when the rules issued by the upperclassmen took effect. Little did they dream of the wearisome experiences they were to go through, ere another year should roll around.

Monday afternoon, September 14, 1920, the class was attacked, while practicing for the Barrel Rush, by the Class of '23, which very obligingly provided baling wire and pliers, so necessary to a successful "Tie-up." At the end of half an hour of bewildered "scrapping," '23 "bit the dust" and then posed for the benefit of the rogues' gallery.

September 20th, the following Monday, the Class of '24 was again victorious over '23 in a fast exciting Barrel Rush.

Alonzo Peeke was elected president of the class and filled the office very efficiently. He was particularly adept and enthusiastic in the building of bonfires for victory celebrations.

In the spring, the class tasted her first defeat, losing to the Class of '23 in the annual Freshman-Sophomore Debate, on April 25, 1921, by a unanimous decision.

For the Sophomore year, Roland Jeffery was elected president.

The class again tasted of the cup of bitterness when the Class of '25 defeated her in the Barrel Rush in the fall of '21, by a wide margin.

With a well rounded team, the Class of '24 captured the inter-class basketball tournament in their Sophomore year, and since all the men on the team are expecting to return, she expects to give good competition next year.

With a full class and a determined attitude toward life, the Class of '24 looks forward to two more years of vigorous, active college life.

As the trains deposited their loads of young people at the Parkville station on September 6, 1921, one saw here and there a shy, shrinking, homesick boy or girl, who was firmly attached to the arm of an old student or was looking anxiously about for some one who could offer a timely suggestion. In a few short weeks this once awe-stricken and timorous group of young people, having satisfactorily passed through that stage of Freshman life known as "initiation," was ready to assume confidently the obligations and privileges of a fully organized class.

Officers were soon elected and began the duty of increasing class enthusiasm, and so great was their immediate success that the zealous spirit of the Freshmen won for them the barrel-rush with the Sophomores.

With their courage thus raised the boys began to train intensively for basketball. Here the class met with defeats, but they were so far from overwhelming that the irrepressible spirit of the class could not be quelled.

Soon came the Freshman Chapel Stunt. This offered a chance to shine once more, so cleverness, originality, and wit were displayed in such a way as to lighten to quite a perceptible extent the former deep green hue of the infant class.

Such is the brief but ardent history of the Freshman class of Park College, but past attainments will grow dim when compared with those which will be accomplished before June, 1925.

Student Body Officers

All the credit that a successful year can bestow goes to the Student Body officers, who by faithful service and earnest work guided the Canary and Wine to victorious achievements in the school year 1920-'21.

The office of a student body president has been compared to a bed of roses on a Mexican cacti base. He is supposed to please all, wear a cast-iron smile and set a noble example for younger generations to follow. Arthur McCall did all that and a whole lot more. A hard worker with a genius for organization, Bud goes down on the honor roll as a real Park man.

John Layman, as vice-president, proved to be a dependable second to Bud and a reliable man in the pinch.

The secretary-treasurer flung ink about and handed out the shekels with a 100% business-like air. Thelma Winnberg made a most efficient and (of course) charming custodian of student body secrets.

When Ross Mac wasn't helping win debates or basketball victories he was busy with his six feet two inches extracting such noises from the assembled that the pigeons forsook McCormick steeple. He and Bud, with the Cu Cu Club, were pep dispensers at all occasions.

Student Body Officers

Among the students whose names are familiar in the history of Park College, and whose services have been gladly given to our school, the student body officers hold an honored place. They are the reflectors of the Park spirit, and real performers of business and functions connected with the student body.

Guy E. Trulock, as president, is little, but—oh my—he is active, alert, tireless and persistent, undoubtedly the right man for the job. He is an all-round good fellow, cheerful and fun loving, as well as a college leader in everything he undertakes.

Theodore Oltman, as vice-president, has faithfully supported the president in a way that is an education in itself. Ted always seems to be able to take the floor and say exactly the right thing at exactly the right time.

Elsie Evans, as secretary and treasurer, is extraordinarily dependable and capable. She handles the money in our student body treasury in a practical and trustworthy manner.

Andrew Taylor, as yell leader, has a remarkable gift, in that he can immediately transform all of us from dignified, calm, normal beings into an enthusiastic, joyous, peppy crowd. With Andy to start us off we easily "Wave the Flag of Park on High."

The Cu Cu Club is a representative group of college men whose one aim is to put enthusiasm and energy into every worthy action connected with the student body. It was organized in the spring of 1921. Its success in generating pep for student activities justified its retention during the past year.

Nominally the Cu Cu Club is a committee appointed by the student body president. It is composed of three members from each of the men's literary organizations, one from the academy at large, the editor of the Narva, and the business manager of the Stylus. At the close of each school year these men elect their successors if the incoming president desires to use them. The activities of the Cu Cu's range from staging pep programs to the supplying of merriment at a Copley Party. They are official pep dispensers for all occasions and their actions have been well rendered for the service of the student body.

One of the most active and useful organizations connected with our college life is the Faculty Women's Club. While it is not in any sense a student organization, it has been in its spirit and in its activities so closely identified with the life of the campus that it deserves special mention in these pages. The club is composed of the lady teachers and the wives of the Faculty members. It originated some twenty years ago when the need of equipment for the banquet hall and the kitchen of the Alumni building seemed to demand some sort of organized effort on the part of the Faculty women. Through their endeavors the equipment was purchased.

This year the club has made substantial contributions toward the piano recently purchased for Nickel Hall and the furnishings for the Andrion-Leantikou Club Hall. A gift was also made for the purchase of some equipment in the kitchen of the new Community House in the village. At present the club is managing the motion picture shows that are given in the chapel each week. The apparatus was purchased by the club and the shows are all presented under the direct supervision of the women themselves, the proceeds, as usual, being expended upon college and community improvements of one sort or another. Thus the whole community is being served through the clean and wholesome films that are presented, and we are all under continual obligation to the unselfish public spirit of the Faculty Women's Club.

Aurora Club

BY 1913 both Lucerne Club and Calliopean Literary Society were so large that it was possible to admit to membership only a few of the girls who entered Park in the fall of 1913. The college authorities and leaders of the student body realized that something must be done to give every girl the advantage of membership in a literary organization and after careful consideration it was decided that a new organization must be provided. To provide the new club with leaders trained by experience it was agreed that four upperclass girls would withdraw from each of the existing organizations. Under their leadership Aurora Club was fully organized in the fall of 1913 with thirty-two members. Orion Club was organized at the same time and the college granted the new clubs the use of two classrooms on the third floor of Mackay, which were converted into a beautiful club hall decorated in the Nile green and buff of the desert sands which were selected as O. A. C. colors. The club hall was named Lawrence Hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Lawrence who contributed generously toward the furnishing of the hall.

From the very first year of her existence Aurora Club has had her full share of scholastic honors and has furnished her quota of leaders in all student activities. In the eight years since her beginning Aurora has grown to be in every sense the equal of the other literary organizations and her members find inspiration and delight in the associations given them in the various club activities.

Orion Club

IN the fall of nineteen hundred and thirteen, realizing the need of another organization for men on the campus, and challenged by the action of the founders of Aurora Club, a few men from Lowell Club, a few from Parchevard Society with those in neither organization banded together and formed Orion Club. After their organization, the two new clubs, realizing that strength and progress lay in unity, therefore they linked themselves together as brother and sister clubs. They adopted as their emblem the Egyptian Scarab Beetle, for their colors they chose buff and green, their flower the lotus flower and their monogram the O. A. C. entwined.

It required some time for the new clubs to gain a competing strength with the Lowell-Lucerne clubs and the Parchevard-Calliopean societies. The first winter the men, during the hours for club meetings, floored with hard wood and decorated a hall made from two former class rooms. Orion entered the field of forensics immediately on the completion of their hall and debated the other organizations in nineteen hundred and fourteen. December nineteen hundred and sixteen marks the turning point in the history of Orion Club, when after five consecutive defeats she won her first debate victory. Up to this time growth had been steady but slow and difficult. Since, Orion has won eight of the possible nine debates. Though competing every year since her organization, she won her first oratorical victory in nineteen hundred and nineteen and since then she has an unbroken record of victories, winning four consecutive contests. In the field of athletics Orion has not been so successful. She has won more than half of the tennis championships since she was organized, but in other events she has not been able to excel as yet, but she has always been a contender and is each year becoming a more formidable rival.

After eight years of her history is written Orion today holds her place as one of the three men's organizations meeting them in all friendly contests and claiming her share of the prizes of conflict. This year to the records were added three new victories in forensics, the two inter-club debates and the Old Line Oratorical Contest.

To those who founded and labored for our club we must look with pride and indeed to all our Alumni we can say, "You have wrought well." In our hearts are great ambitions for the future and we look forward eagerly to it. We are determined to "carry on" in all our might that we may pass on to our future clubsmen records even better than the past.

Lucerne Club

A LONG the shores of Lake Lucerne, the sun was slowly casting a last faint light upon the little blue flower that had become an emblem of truth, of honor, and of courage to the folk who loved the spirit of the Lake.

Years may pass, but the sun will continue to shine upon the waters of the lake, and upon that noble sentinel, the lion of Lucerne. In another spot far removed from the quiet lake there is a group of young women who are striving to re-live the quiet, happy, yet strong spirit of the waters of Lucerne. As their emblem they have chosen the same blue flower to represent the spirit and ideals of the club in which each member is a vital part.

Lucerne received her birthright from the old Cheever society on January 22, 1896, when twenty-two young women made possible the organization of which she is proud. From the time that the first officers were installed, each individual member has tried in every way possible to live up to the standard of her motto, "Scientia, eloquentia, et amicitia."

Lucerne programs have been varied, interesting and educational. The devotional service at the opening of each meeting is a part of the spirit of Park, while the ideals of work, co-operation, and pleasure are all embodied in the true spirit of the Club.

During the past year Lucerne has again added to her membership, and to the work which she is enabled to do. Each succeeding year brings new members to unite with the older girls in working for their club and for Park. In the future, Lucerne with the aid of Lowell will profit by past experience and will add to her store of memories to be passed on to each succeeding group of girls who come to make Cheever Hall ring with:

L—stands for girls so loyal.

U—for their unity.

C—for their iron-bound courage.

E—for equality.

R—for their record royal.

N—for their noble aims.

E—for each girl, the best in the whole world, and the big

Lowell Club

LOWELL CLUB was founded on January 10, 1896, when certain members of the disbanded societies of Park, Cheever and Bullard met in Cheever Hall and perfected the structure of a literary organization.

Seeking to develop excellence in oratory and debate, they chose for their motto the letters D. I. G. Some weeks later Lowell united with Lucerne and the combined clubs selected blue for the color of the L. L. C.'s. The club grew in efficiency and prospered by success as her men gained experience in many a hard-fought contest. Although Lowell club has always been small in number, the record of victories in forensics and athletics bears witness to the strength of the policy created by the founders of Lowell who held that more effective work could be done by and with the few instead of the many. From all parts of the world come the stories of Lowell's striving to do their bit in life as true sons of Park and attributing much of their success to the thorough training received in Cheever Hall.

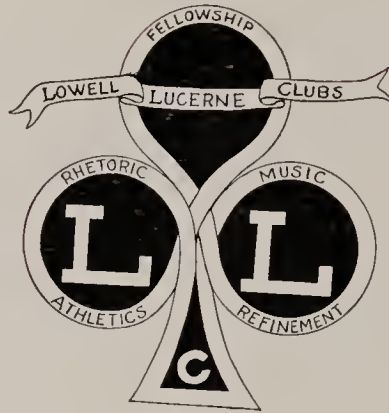

In the fall of 1919 only twelve men responded to roll call. The work of past years had to be started anew. Two basketball and two baseball championships were annexed and an even break obtained in debate. Cheever Hall was redecorated and refitted. In September of 1921 the men who had made these things possible did not return to school. The remnants of the "Old Guard" were called upon for renewed efforts to rebuild the club. Weak in debate and athletic material they turned their attention to new and progressive projects within the club which even at this early date have proved successful by increasing the efficiency and interest of the weekly programs—those all-important gatherings which determine the strength or weakness of a literary organization.

Held together by inseparable bonds of fellowship, Lowell looks with confidence to the future when the standard of the blue and blue shall again wave supreme in the field of achievement.

Calliopean Literary Society

FEW years before the new century began there were three coeducational literary organizations on Park College campus. In 1898 when these three disbanded their members formed four new organizations—two for men and two for women. Although seemingly all co-operative work between the men and the women had been dissolved they still maintained some form of alliance by coupling into so-called “brother-and-sister” organizations. These brother and sister organizations maintain somewhat the same principles, wear the same emblem, and have contributed each its own color to form those of the united organization; they shout for the same victories, mourn for the same defeats, and through success or adversity encourage each other towards those ideals which they hold in common.

Two of the societies which banded together on that afar off day were called by the combined name of Parchevard and Calliopean Literary Societies. Parchevard is the name of the men's society. The girls called themselves Calliopeans, having derived their name from Calliope, the muse of epic poetry. Their own particular emblem is the Marcenial rose and their color, like that of the flower, is golden. The emblem of the combined societies is the diamond and their combined colors purple and gold.

The society has certain ideals which it is the desire of every Calliopean girl to uphold; first, to give loyal support to those general ideals for which the college itself stands; then to maintain high standards of scholarship.

The society meets every Monday evening in Park Hall. This hall, which is situated on the southeast corner of the third floor of Mackay, is shared by the men and the women of the joint organization. It is the center of the life of the organizations and the place where they hold their semi-annual open session as well as numerous joint meetings.

The aim of the society is to give girls practice in literary and musical expression and in parliamentary law. Many girls who have never before done any public speaking and were unaware of any talent in that direction have discovered such a talent and had it strengthened by taking part in the meetings. After the program a business meeting gives the girls some actual use of the rules of parliamentary law.

Through these weekly meetings, and because of their love for the same society and their loyalty to the same ideals, Calliopean girls are bound together by bonds of comradeship which will outlast their college days and one of the brightest spots in their memories of Park will be the hours which they have spent together in P. C. L. S.

Parchevard Literary Society

QUARTER of a century ago a band of men representing congenial elements in the three original literary societies banded together to form a new organization. These first societies were composed of both men and women and the decision to separate has proved its success through these many years. However, since the founders did not wish to give up the old traditions and names altogether, they endeavored to work out a combination of the good points in each society in order to apply them to the new organization. They took the name Parchevard derived from the old names, Park, Cheever and Bullard Literary Societies. They allied themselves with Calliopean, a sister society, and took as their joint colors purple and gold.

Cyrus Merton Creighton was elected first president of Parchevard. Reverend C. M. Creighton is now one of the foremost ministers in the state of New York.

Park Hall has gradually been improved from a bare unfinished room to a hall we can care for with pride. The hardwood floor was laid entirely by Parchevards and much of the decorating was done by the members themselves. Calliopean has aided greatly with work and encouragement the beautification of their joint hall.

Since the founding of Parchevard she has always won her share of forensic victories and more than her share of athletic victories, as a large array of loving cups will testify.

The year of 1920 and '21 brought Parchevard two victories in tennis and track, and her orator, Dwight Porter, placed second on the Henry S. Jewett Oratorical Contest.

The year 1921-22 brought some splendid material with the pledging of new men. One debate was won and the other lost. The basketball team went through the season without a defeat and there is great faith that the tennis, track and baseball teams will add other victories to the year's record.

Jarvis Morris won the intra-society cup debate last year and this year, Henry Salveter won the intra-society oratorical contest for 1920-21.

Above all our successes and defeats Parchevard holds highest in her ideals the fellowship of her members, past and present. This is her most cherished possession and she will indeed have failed if discord comes among her members or disloyalty to alma mater enters her ranks.

Seventy-five presidents have occupied the executive chair and proof of their ability and the loyal co-operation of the society is seen in the progressive spirit and bonds of fellowship that hold the society together today.

The Cosmopolitan Club was organized on the Park College campus before Christmas vacation. The composition of Park's student body makes a splendid organization possible. The membership is made up of men from fourteen different countries including America.

The objects of the club as outlined in the constitution are very broad including the promotion of peace between nations and the economic betterment of the world at large. But the immediate aim of the club is lower and more practical. The members seek to do what they can toward a better understanding of other peoples and civilization, and toward learning that a humanity—all embracing, all including, linked with the idea of brotherly love, of sympathetic understanding, and good will toward all men—is an ultimate goal to be striven for. This organization aims to do what it can toward the elimination of prejudice among peoples of different opinions and different social standings.

A meeting is held once a month. Representatives of different nationalities speak on the history and institutions of their countries. Thus the members have an opportunity to gain an insight into the point of view of different peoples. The club is firmly established in the college and is acknowledged as one of the successful organizations on the campus.

Due to Miss Chantrelle's untiring effort Le Cercle Francais was organized the 15th of March, 1921. Its purpose was to cultivate and further an interest in French language and customs.

Le Cercle Francais meetings are held once a month. At these meetings the lives of French authors and their works are studied, French songs are sung and usually a short play is given.

One of the features during commencement is the French play. In 1921 La Poudre aux Yeux was presented.

Le Cercle has subscribed to two French newspapers namely Le Petit Journal and Le Matin, which are placed in the library for the use of those interested in French.

The Illini Club was first organized in the school year 1918-1919.

Kingsley Given as president this year has outlined a splendid program for the club. The name was changed from Illinois to Illini. Constitution and by-laws were enacted definitely. Illinois day chapel service was again held on Lincoln's anniversary and the annual Illini banquet the following Monday evening.

Our motto is: "Gold is good in its place; but loving, brave patriotic men are better than gold."—Lincoln.

The Masquers held meetings and decided upon the name Masquers during the year 1920-21, and in October, 1921, a committee was appointed to draw up a constitution. Officers were elected and the organization completed.

The purpose of this organization is to promote interest in dramatic art, to further in a financial way the department of drama of Park College, and to instruct the members in the practical production of plays.

Several plays are presented during the year at various times, and each year final drama, known as the "Masquers' Play" is presented during commencement week.

The success of the organization is due, primarily to the skill and personality of Miss Ethel E. Lyon, the instructor in modern drama, who selects and trains the casts of the various plays.

It was way back in the year 1895 that J. E. McAfee organized the present Park College Glee Club. The first director was J. E. McAfee, the second director was A. D. Wolfe, the third and present director is Professor R. V. Magers. Professor Magers has been connected with this club continuously for twenty-two years, and all the men who have the privilege of being members have learned to love him.

In 1911 the Park banner was waving from the Glee Club private car all the way between Parkville and the Pacific Coast. Other trips have been taken into the neighboring states almost every year since the club was organized. At the annual banquet held last spring the new Glee Club pin was presented to all of the members and accepted as a standard gift to be given to all members of the club after one year's service.

This year the men, under the splendid leadership of Professor Magers, prepared and presented the minstrel show that was financially all that could be hoped for. It was an evening of fun and frolic never to be forgotten. With the proceeds of this entertainment the club finished paying the chapel piano pledge. After the Christmas holidays all attention was turned to the financial campaign that the college was conducting in Kansas City.

Mr. Dwight Porter, our present manager, has assured us of several trips, which, with the annual home concert and the annual banquet will complete the year.

The orchestra this year is the largest and has the greatest variety of instruments since its founding. Park College looks to its orchestra to furnish music at the numerous plays and entertainments which take place. The orchestra has well acquitted itself on these occasions. The music whether classical or jazz is always well played.

Professor O. C. Rader of Kansas City takes charge for an hour every Monday morning and the orchestra owes a large measure of its success to his patient and devoted efforts. The brunt of the work, however, falls on Student Director Peeke, who bears the every day burden of direction.

Mrs. George Lawrence is responsible for many extra instruments for the orchestra and for the band. She is the godmother of both.

The history of the Park College Band dates back to the founding of the institution. The membership during the early history was very uncertain, and it was not recognized as a definite organized body till 1900.

In 1902 Mrs. G. A. Lawrence gave $500.00 for purchasing new instruments and music. It has ever since been called the Park-Lawrence Band, and Mrs. Lawrence has backed it in all of its activities.

Professor Claude C. Rader took over the directorship of the band in 1902.

In the year of 1920-21 George A. Parks was appointed student director. When Mr. Parks was graduated in '21 Emilio Acosta was appointed student director. Mr. Acosta resigned at the end of the first semester and Harry G. Keller was appointed as Mr. Acosta's successor.

The Park-Lawrence Band gives several concerts each school year, besides furnishing much of the pep for the celebrations. The band and its kind patrons deserve much appreciation from the students for making so many occasions more pleasant with their music.

The Association of Ministerial Students

WILLIAM F. KOENIG.....	President

FUKUJI SASAKI.....	Secretary and Treasurer
OSCAR SWEDBURG .....	Censor

The students on the Park College campus who are looking forward to the Christian ministry as their life work have banded together under the name of the Association of Ministerial Students. Their purpose is to unite individual efforts in the promotion of the cause of the Christian ministry and in the rendition of such Christian service as the association finds to do.

Every Sunday evening, after the regular church service, the association gathers in the "upper room" of the chapel, and there discusses such definite subjects and problems as are of vital interest and benefit to every Christian whether he enters the ministry or not. Frequently the organization has the privilege of hearing inspirational speakers who are active in the field of Christian service.

Through gospel teams, the supplying of pulpits in various churches and through evangelistic work, the members of the association not only secure practical experience but receive inspiration for the calling they have chosen.

While the association, as an organization, is composed of those students who are definitely planning for full time Christian service, yet every student on the campus is most sincerely invited to share with them in the inspiration and Christian fellowship of their meetings.

"Therefore—be ye steadfast, unmoveable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labor is not in vain in the Lord." (I Cor. 15:58).

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road and be a friend to man."

The Student Volunteer movement is perhaps one of the most far reaching and one of the least heard of and least understood movement in this country and, though to a far less degree, this is true on Park College Campus. The Student Volunteer Band is formed of a group of forty-one students who have signified that it is their purpose, if God is willing, to devote their lives to His work on the Foreign Mission fields.

The band holds a brief meeting in the auditorium of the Alumni Building every Sunday after the evening church service. This is devoted largely to prayer. It is a fitting close to a busy day and it usually is felt to be one of the most uplifting meetings of that day. By this means the members are bound closer together and constantly encouraged to keep on working toward their common aims of service.

In Park the Student Volunteer Band has always been a large and growing one and this year under the leadership of our president, John Eckels, and our vice-president, Susan Peeke, it has become a vital part of our campus life and many who at first wavered are now answering the call, "Go, ye, into all the world and preach the gospel to every nation."

A. mean what it does to the girls. The members of the Advisory Board who are always ready to give their valuable aid and advice are a great inspiration and help to all the girls. The "Y" anticipates another successful year under the presidency of Mary Eckels.

The Forensic Council has charge of the arrangement of all debates and oratorical contests in which the college, as a whole, is interested.

Last year, under the guidance of Howard McClusky, as president, a five-year pentagon debate contract was signed with Baker, Ottawa, William Jewell and Emporia. Park won three out of the four debates that year. A women's dual debate was arranged with Ottawa and a debate with Colorado Agricultural College. Of these three debates Park won two. A very good record when we consider that these were the first women's debates in which Park ever participated. Central Wesleyan also met defeat from Park's three-man team. Duncan Findlay won the Harry S. Jewett local oratorical contest and took second in the State contest.

This year debates for women have been arranged with Ottawa University. Three debates, the first against Kansas City Law School and the others against Hastings College and Colorado Agricultural College besides the regular pentagon debate have been secured for the men. Lowell Beers won the local oratorical contest and took second in the State Contest.

The Forensic Council keeps a complete record of the debates, the questions, decisions on debates and the judges with their names, occupations, addresses and personal decision on each debate. This file, started three years ago, has been invaluable for reference in securing good judges for the contests.

Pi Kappa Delta

OFFICERS

JEANNIE MURRAY	.....	President
DOROTHY MASON	.....	Vice-President
OPAL GRAY	.....	Secretary-Treasurer
DWIGHT PORTER	.....	Corresponding Secretary

The purpose of all Pi Kappa Delta organizations is to further in the college, which have a chapter, the advancement of those great arts of speech practiced in high perfection down through the ages. Upon it rests the obligation of raising high standards and of maintaining worthy ideals; of promoting the spirit of fair play and broad-mindedness in all forensic relations. In a word it is to promote the best kind of forensic activity.

As an active organization on this campus perhaps it has not seemed that Pi Kappa Delta has been outstanding. This has been due largely to the fact that the Forensic Council at present is doing the work that Pi Kappa Delta should do. And yet we have realized most of the goals we set out to reach. At the beginning of the year we decided to try to do three things, namely; to get a class organized in debate so that the members of the teams could receive three hours' college credit for their work; to send a delegate to the National Convention and to take over the work of the Forensic Council. The first two of these goals have been realized and the third probably will be before the year is out. In fact, in taking over the work of starting the ball rolling for the girls' debates we made our first step toward this.

This organization is young on our campus but it is continually growing and in the future will occupy the foreground as a forensic activity.

Park's Orator

In Lowell Beers Park has an unusually formidable oratorical protagonist. His oration, "The Master Conflict," portrays the terrific struggle in human history between the opposing forces, Paganism and Love. The theme is noble in conception and skillfully handled. Nearly two years of assiduous effort has characterized the oration with faultless organization, lucid and striking phrases and a well-balanced but gripping appeal.

To his fine oration Beers adds in delivery a commanding personality, meticulous enunciation, a strong and well modulated voice, graceful and expressive gestures, and a forceful, sincere manner.

Beers is also backed with an extended experience in oratory. He made an enviable record before he came to Park. As a representative of North Manchester College of North Manchester, Indiana, he placed second on the Indiana Collegiate oratorical contest. He has twice captured second place in the Missouri State contest, and has participated in the national oratorical contest held under the auspices of the National Forensic Fraternity, Pi Kappa Delta.

For more than twenty years, the freshmen and sophomore classes have clashed in debate. It is the most glorious and crowning feature of their activity because the debates are held in the spring and, therefore, it is the final struggle between the under-classmen to win glory for their classes. As the day for the conflict approaches, the clouds of uneasiness and struggle appear on the horizon. The college mule barn roof painted in various fashions foretells the eruption of Freshmen-Sophomore activity. " '23 Will Win" and "Victory '24" appeared from time to time last year. The Freshman class has won these debates for so many years in succession that it has been almost accepted as traditional for them to win. Last year, however, the Sophomores spoiled this traditional record by a unanimous victory over the class of '24.

Staff Remarks

The Staff of the 1922 Narva wishes you to bear in mind these words of the old chieftain, Narva, which he said shortly after he had acquired a brief knowledge of the English language, "Little muchachos, my dear children, never scandalize and gossip unless say you something nice." If you like not what you read turn the leaf and read the next.

The staff wishes to thank all those who have assisted in a task pleasant, but arduous. Their reward is in whatever satisfaction the book occasions.

The editor and business manager wish to take this opportunity to let you know the loyal co-operation that every member of the staff has given towards making the book.

The Stylus is the student paper, published weekly at the College Printing Shop. Previously it has been edited by a staff, chosen on a competitive basis; but this year it is edited by the Journalism Class, which is taught by Miss Ethel E. Lyon. The class in Journalism, first organized this year, was for the purpose of giving training in journalistic work. College credit is given for editing The Stylus. Two members of the staff, under the direction of Miss Lyon, are responsible for each week's issue, though every member writes for it.

The staff has done very satisfactory work, making The Stylus a first class college paper, truly representing the whole student body.

TRULOCK

Guy Eddie is the little man with the big punch. His first year on the Varsity, and developed into a veteran guard. Our loss to lose him by graduation.

PEEKE

This was Lonnie's second year on the Varsity, and he's only a Sophomore! A strong cog in the scoring machine.

KIRKPATRICK

Kirk has played center three years for Park, which should be saying enough for him. We shall be glad to have him back next season.

PEAK

A better floor man than Dick would be hard to find. Always played a dependable guard. His second year and promising much for next season.

MEYER

The biggest man on the squad. A dependable guard, lots of fight that's Joe, and he never let up.—Nuff sed.

LOOSLEY

Although Bob didn't get into many games, he was always ready and opponents found it hard to evade him when he guarded them.

MELAND

Another sterling guard, who found it hard to play so many games on the side line. Bernard can be relied upon to fill in any gap, and he will be with us for two more years.

BLACK

Bill came to us this year, and proved himself a strong candidate for a forward position; a good shot and accurate passer, he should go far, for he has three college years ahead of him.

Park Academy

FOR ten years after it was founded Park College existed without an Academy. In 1885 the Academy was established to better prepare students for entrance into Park College. At that time there were very few high schools or preparatory schools in this section of the country. Therefore, the Academy grew from this necessity.

The course of study there was very elementary but has gradually been advanced until now Park Academy is accredited by the State University and the North Central Association. There are five salaried teachers. They are Mrs. Beers, Latin; Miss Kresge, Mathematics; Miss McClave, French and History; Mr. McClusky, English, and Mr. Edwards, Physics. Miss Harrison, who has been on a leave of absence, taking graduate work at the University of Chicago, is our efficient principal. The student teachers after their practice teaching receive the Missouri High School Certificate.

Woodward is the only dormitory used exclusively for Academy boys. The Academy girls make their home in the college dormitories. Over half of the Academy is composed of students living outside the dormitories. Most of these are from the private homes in the village.

Although the Academy is not very large, it affords great opportunities for personal development. Besides the classroom duties, the student may enjoy music by joining the Academy Chorus, or he may develop his literary tastes by joining the clubs. If he desires athletics he may engage in basketball and field sports.

FOURTH YEAR SONG

Tune—Boola

Hurrah for Fourth Years—hurrah for Fourth Years,
Our dear class, none is better;
East and westward, north and southward,
Hurrah for Fourth Years, hurrah, hurrah.

THE CLASS OF 1922

When on September 6, 1918, there entered Park College Academy students from all parts of the world, we little realized what lay before us. The unknown pleasures, terrors and enjoyment we knew nothing of, but bravely we started out and bravely have we finished.

Unfortunately, the class activities in the Academy are not very active, still we have tried to prove our mental, moral, and physical efficiency and hope we have succeeded to some degree.

And now the four long years have passed. The First Years of '18 are now the Fourth Years of '22. We have had many experiences of which the enjoyable ones far outweigh the unpleasant ones. As we now gaze backward with kindred feelings of regret and gladness we realize that the class will soon be no more and that each member will pursue his own course and go into the great sea of life alone. As we pass, let us forever keep the memories of the Academy dear to us so that all must honor and respect the Class of 1922.

ACADEMY NARVA EDITORS

The Academy section of the Narva is an entirely new feature of the book this year and the editors have striven to keep up the quality to that of the rest of the book and to set an example for future years. We hope we have succeeded to some degree and that in our endeavor to portray the activities of the Academy our efforts have not been in vain.

The privilege of having a part set aside for the Academy is truly appreciated and we take this opportunity to thank those who have made it possible.

We leave the reader to judge for himself of our success.

The Academy has been fortunate the last two years in having such a fine team to represent them. Last year's team deserves a great deal of praise for the showing they made against the three outside teams and the college team. By defeating these teams, we have acquired a reputation in basket ball circles.

Academy Team

GEORGE FISHBURN

(Captain) "Fish" is an all round athlete whose work at center has been the main power of the team.

GEORGE BRAYTON

A guard who has ability to slip up and garner two or three baskets every game, at the same time holding his opponent to a lesser number.

CLARK BRIGGS

Forward. He gives a good account of himself. We expect much of him next year.

ROFF CHAPPELL

Whose motto is They shall not pass. His team work and free throwing strengthened the team wonderfully.

2 NARVA 2

PHILIP GERNER

"Flop" is a versatile forward who is dead shot on the basket. It takes a good guard to keep him to a few goals.

WALTER McMARTIN

Mac is full of the old scrap. Several opposing players have been heard to murmur that he hinders their shooting.

McCLELLAND WHITELEY

Forward. A man who knows where the basket is and just how to slip the ball into it at the critical moment in the game.

"Mock:" "Not a word, Prof., so am I."

Marion E. "Bobby, you sure can pucker your lips."
Bobby (absent-mindedly reading a sign board): "They're mild, sure—but they satisfy."

Herman B. (trying to converse): "Have you many fast friends?"
Evelyn S.: "Sir! I'm not that kind of a girl!"

"You had to hold me up to do it," said Marion as Paul stole a kiss.

Prof. Teener: "Who reported on Easter?"
Zellah: "I did."
Prof. T.: "Very well, we'll have Christmas then."

Mrs. Schall: "Don't you stay in the room when the girls have company?"
Mrs. Cook: "No, I'm trying the honor system."

Mr. Price (reading a letter from son): "Iru says he's got a beautiful lamp from boxing."
Mrs. Price: "I just knew he'd win something in athletics."

Lynn: "I always believed that a kiss meant engagement."
John Layman: "Lord help us."

Clara: "I was named after my brother."
Scotty: "How so?"
Clara: "Two years."

Opal: "Just think, Bob tried to put his arms around me four times."
Glad: "My! What long arms."

Mary L.: "What is that rasping noise in Dean Sanders' office?"
Vi: "Oh, somebody filing a complaint."

Place Where Dreams Come True

---

Where grandeur of earth and sky blend sublimely with Hope and Aspiration.

Where the student with a lofty Purpose, and the
Will to attain it; finds the Means.

Where Work of the Hands finds brotherhood with that of the Brain and the Heart.

Where Scholastic Excellence and the Power of Expression is the boon craved by the Student and sought by the Faculty.

Where money can not buy, or lack of it deny, a place. But where Character, Consecration and the Life-Goal are the arbiters of opportunity.

Where the Christian Ideal is held in uppermost honor and the concept of Service is kept in the forefront of all teaching about Life-Tasks and in all planning of careers.

OUR TASK IS NOT ONE OF FINDING STUDENTS, BUT OF FINDING ROOM FOR THEM. ABOUT SEVEN HUNDRED WERE TURNED AWAY, IN EACH OF THE LAST TWO YEARS, FOR LACK OF ROOM. WE MUST HAVE MORE DORMITORIES
TO ACCOMMODATE THIS STREAM OF APPLICANTS.

The HOOVER

It BEATS... as it Sweeps as it Cleans

How Does The Hoover Lengthen the Life of Rugs?

Walking and the rocking of chairs crushes down the nap of rugs. This bent-over nap is pressed into contact with sharp-edged embedded grit, and is cut and ground to pieces, unless the rug is thoroughly cleaned with frequency and the destructive grit removed. This is the cause of thread-bare spots.

The constant beating out of this nap-wearing, embedded grit by The Hoover, and the constant brushing and lifting of the nap when crushed, prevents such wear and prolongs the life of rugs. Further, the thorough cleaning of The Hoover removes the dirt that otherwise dims colors and in time dulls them forever. Only The Hoover thoroughly renovates your rugs each time, because it alone beats—as it sweeps, as it cleans by air.
